Grayling moves to 7-0 with 33-6 league win at Kalkaska

Grayling High School's varsity football team improved its overall record to 7-0 with a 33-6 league win at Kalkaska High School on Friday night.

"Our guys came ready to play tonight," Coach Tim Sanchez said. "Coach (Kevin) O'Connell's defensive game plan was great and the players executed it with toughness and discipline. Kalkaska had two incredible backs that could score on any play, so I was very pleased with our defensive intensity. Once again our offense was able to make some big plays and capitalize on some forced turnovers." Page 4B

Five different players score goals in 5-1 victory vs. Bucks

Act quick to take fall color tours

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Drought conditions over the summer may have set the stage months ago for fall color tours, but opportunities still exist in northern Michigan to view fall foliage.

"This year put a lot of stress on the trees," said Russell Kidd, forestry educator for the northern Lower Peninsula for the Michigan State University Extension. "What color we are going to get is probably pretty much here. It's peaking and it's going to be gone pretty fast."

Bert Cregg, associate professor for Michigan State University's Department of Horticulture and Department of Forestry, said maple trees in the Grayling-area are near their peak for fall color.

Oaks will continue to turn over the next couple of weeks. There is still some white ash around in northern Michigan that are adding nice, deep purples, Cregg said.

"I think we are seeing a more variable season in parts of the state that were hit hard with the drought - some trees are turning earlier while others are essentially on-track," Cregg said.

Sunny weather in recent weeks brought out most of the early fall colors.

"The sunny weather brings out a lot of colors," Kidd said. "Some of it's a little muted because of the drought."

Pure Michigan, the state's official travel and tourism website, promotes color tours for northwest and northeast Michigan.

A 170-mile trip for northwest Michigan travels from Grayling to Torch Lake and ends in Lake City. Sites and attractions on the tour include Wellington Farm Park, North Higgins Lake State Park, South Higgins Lake State Park, the Lake Margrethe State Forest Campground, the Huron-Manistee National Forest, the TART Trail, the Old Mission Point Lighthouse, the Grass River Natural Area and Sand Lakes Quiet Area.

A 200-mile trip for northeast Michigan travels through Alpena, Mio and Gaylord. Sites on the tour include the Thunder Bay Island Lighthouse, Thunder Bay National Marine Sanctuary-Great Lakes Maritime Heritage Center, the Otsego Lake State Park, Pigeon River Country Elk Range and the Hartwick Pines State Park.

CRAWFORD COUNTY RECOGNIZED WITH NO-KILL COMMUNITY AWARD

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Crawford County residents were honored for being one of the top communities in the state for their efforts to find homes for healthy and treatable pets.

The Michigan Pet Fund Alliance held its annual No-Kill Conference called "Getting to the Goal" in Lansing on Sept. 20-21.

The event brought together advocates from shelters, rescue groups, the veterinary field and local and statewide government to share strategies, experiences and inspiration.

Michigan leads the way nationally in the number of communities that save the lives of more than 90 percent of their homeless pets.

The conference focused on an innovative rescue group certification program and also featured a veterinary-focused course of action as well as sessions on all aspects for the no-kill equation, a group of programs implemented in more than 50 communities nationwide to end the killing of healthy and treatable homeless pets.

Crawford County was recognized with a no-kill community award at the conference. The county was among 10 others counties in the state to receive the award, including Alger, Baraga, Chippewa, Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw, Marquette, Otsego and Roscommon Counties.

The Michigan Pet Fund Alliance, a non-profit organization which works with shelter and rescue organizations with training, technical assistance, education and advocacy, sponsored the no-kill conference for the See CRAWFORD | Pg. 7A

County opts to pay more to shelter to house animals

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners approved to hike the amount it pays to the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter along with a three-year agreement between the county and the non-profit shelter.

The county agreed to increase the amount it pays the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter from $12,000 to $14,000 for the 2012-13 fiscal year. The shelter board had requested an increase up to $18,000.

The contract between the shelter and the county was last dealt with eight years ago.

Crawford County Administrator Paul Compo said the county needed to address what it pays the shelter to keep animals that come under the county's control so the non-profit organization can remain financially viable.

"We want to make it economically sound and everybody right now is looking for money," Compo said.

The three-pact includes indexed payments to account for increased operational costs.

Beginning on Oct 1, the county agreed to pay the shelter 1,166.67 monthly with the understanding that no more than 15 animals per month will be kept at the shelter for the county.

The county agreed to pay $1,225 monthly, beginning Oct. 1, 2013 to the shelter and to pay $1,286.25, beginning Oct. 1, 2014.

An additional fee of $70 per animal, per month will be paid for every animal that is housed at the shelter in excess of the 15 animal maximum monthly allotment.

An exception will exist if the county exceeds its maximum allotment of 15 animals, when there are animals that were housed at the shelter for three days or less. In that event, an additional fee of $10 per animal will be paid.

In addition, an exception exists in the event of an animal that is sheltered as a result of a court order. In that event, the county agrees to pay $75 for those animals.

"Over the past couple of years, we've found that it takes more handling for animals that are court ordered to be placed at the shelter because they have to be separated from the other animals," Compo said.

An exception will also exist in a case where more than 10 animals are brought to the shelter from one location or source. In that event, the shelter and the county will negotiate a compensation schedule that is fair and equitable for both parties.

The county received a grant and loan from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to build the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter in 2007. The shelter makes payments on the $330,000 loan through its fund-raising efforts.

Increasing its payment for animals housed at the shelter is part of the strategy to ensure the shelter can maintain its loan payments.

"We don't want to take over the shelter and our primary concern is paying our fair share of the costs," Compo said. "They do a good job for the community and operate a great facility."

Inaccurate floodplain maps targeted

by Anjana Schroeder
Capital News Service

LANSING — After the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) released floodplain maps, effective April 17, homeowners started receiving letters from their lenders giving them 45 days to buy additional insurance because they were in a flood zone.

Floodplain maps for counties statewide were determined by FEMA, but officials in Gladwin and Crawford counties were concerned about the accuracy and impact of the maps.

Approximately 350 homes in Gladwin alone were placed in a newly created flood zone, U.S. Rep. Dan Benishek, R-Crystal Falls, told FEMA in a letter requesting that Gladwin County have until Oct. 31 to draw new maps.

State Rep. Joel Johnson, R-Clare, contacted the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) about remapping Gladwin's floodplain.

And U.S. Sen. Carl Levin, D-Detroit, and Johnson helped get extra time from FEMA for remapping in Gladwin.

According to Johnson, Gladwin County officials "launched an effort to prepare and submit alternative maps that were based on 1- or 2-foot contour intervals." FEMA used 10-foot intervals, creating much larger floodplain areas.

Remapping floodplain zones is not always the easiest option, said Grayling Township Supervisor Rick Harland. He said Grayling won't remap because it would be too expensive.

Crawford County's geographic information systems technician, Gaye Pizzi, obtained the floodplain map from FEMA, so when Crawford County residents ask if they are in a flood zone, she is able to give them an accurate answer.

Some residents have then hired surveyors and, in none of those cases did the surveyors find the properties to be in a flood zone, Pizzi said.

"Whatever company came to map the floodplains must have never set foot in Crawford County," she said.

"What was unfortunate was that a base flood elevation was never set for Crawford County and FEMA didn't set one either," Pizzi said. Banks send letters to homeowners in flood zones and give them 45 days to get insurance, she said.

And anything attached to a house is considered in the flood zone. "Someone could have stairs leading out to the water, or a deck that falls in the flood zone."

Grayling Charter Township Supervisor Rick Harland said he can personally relate.

"My property shows I'm in the floodplain but my house is not." He is hiring surveyors to determine the maps accuracy.

Lovells Township Supervisor Gary Neumann said about a dozen parcels have been determined to be in the flood zone in his township. "Out of a dozen, half of the structures were clearly not in the flood zone."

It is the property owners' responsibility to either obtain insurance or hire a surveyor if they wish to determine if their homes were accurately placed in a flood zone.

Almanack

by Richard Milliman

Statewide proposals follow pattern

PRO AND CON arguments about the six statewide proposals on the November 6 Michigan ballot are growing, as tons of money flow into campaigns seeking to move voters one way or another.

Facts are difficult to determine. Arguments conflict. What's true and what isn't?

For what it may be worth, here are my thoughts on how I plan to cast these six votes.

In the first place, I have a distinct bias about (a) trying to amend the Michigan Constitution on questions that rightfully belong to the Michigan Legislature, and (b) the content of proposals that are so broad that trying to figure out how they will change or affect existing laws is difficult or impossible to determine.

Of the six questions voters will decide, five fall into one or the other of these two categories, or both.

PROPOSAL ONE is not an amendment to the constitution but a question of whether a law passed by the Legislature in 2011 should be approved or repealed.

In essence, it involves state-appointed emergency managers assuming temporary financial management of local government units, including school districts, when they face extreme money problems and civic bankruptcy.

Public Act 4 of 2011 gives broad powers to emergency managers to take over much of the job now held by locally elected officials.

I approach this question with mixed emotions on the basic question of representative government, which is a cornerstone of democracy. I believe that the people should run their local governments through elected officials, keeping government close to the people. But I also believe in keeping local governments alive.

When elected officials have demonstrated they cannot do their jobs adequately to prevent financial emergencies or to correct them, should not the state step in through an emergency manager to help get the local unit back into operating condition?

In that situation, shouldn't the state-appointed official have enough muscle to fix the problems?

To me, the question is reality versus principle, and because I believe local governments must be financially sound enough to handle their own problems, I will opt for reality, in order to help them return to the principle of home rule.

So I plan to vote YES to approve Public Act 4 of 2011.

THE OTHER ballot proposals all would amend the Michigan Constitution, and some in unknown ways.

For example, Proposal Two is presented by labor organizations to repeal a bunch of state laws, and nobody has come forth with a complete list. It would prohibit any "right to work" laws, and give constitutional status to public employee unions. What else is hidden in this far-reaching proposal remains a mystery. For that reason alone, I will vote NO.

Proposal Three would require public utilities by the year 2025 to provide at least 25 percent of retail sales from renewable energy sources, such as wind, solar, biomass, and hydropower. These clearly are questions which should be decided by the legislature and should not be in the state constitution. I will vote NO.

Proposal Four gives constitutional status to something called the Michigan Quality Home Care Council (MQHCC) to control home care workers and be the union for them. To me, this is a bad idea in the first place, and has no place in the constitution. If reforms are needed, the Legislature should have jurisdiction. I will vote NO.

Proposal Five would require a two-thirds majority vote in the legislature, or approval by a statewide vote, to impose new or higher taxes. To embed this restriction in the constitution is simply bad government. Lawmakers need discretion in year by year consideration of budgeting matters. I will vote NO.

Proposal Six demands approval by votes statewide and in affected local communities before any "new or international bridges or tunnels for motor vehicles" can be built. This idea has been promoted heavily and almost solely by the company that owns the Ambassador Bridge from Detroit to Canada, and is strictly a self-serving proposal. It has no place in the Constitution, and I will vote NO.

The Almanack tally on ballot proposals: One reluctant YES, five NO.

LET US HOPE the 2012 flood of proposals to amend the constitution is an anomaly, and will not soon be repeated.

Ballot questions are almost always presented, purchased and peddled by individual special interest groups. You usually can figure out which groups are pushing which amendments, by figuring out who benefits the most.

It takes money – a lot of it – to prepare a proposed amendment, to gather the signatures needed to put it on the ballot, and finally to convince enough people to vote for it. This year's steady stream of TV ads has raised the ante.

If enough amendments, such as most of these offered this year, are adopted, the Michigan Constitution eventually becomes riddled with damaging restrictions and conflicting provisions, all leading to unmanageable or unwieldy state government and special benefits to special groups.

Viewpoint

By Bill Cook, Forester and Biologist MSU Extension, Upper Peninsula

Drought affects wildlife

Severe drought affects many wildlife species in ways that we can relate to with our human experience. Droughts lead to less food and water, as well as deterioration of various forms of cover. Some effects are current. Other effects will continue long after the rains resume. For many species, drought is hazardous. For others, it may be a time of opportunity. Impacts on populations may last several years.

Immediate effects include heat stress, fewer water sources, and reduced amounts of fruit and forage. These environmental conditions can lead to physiological stress and contribute to higher levels of mortality and lower breeding success. These are the sorts of factors that most of us might think about right away.

But there is more; and much of it has to do with habitat quality.

In the forest, dry conditions lead to lower overall production of fruits and nuts, something called "mast". Although, in some cases the current year response may be the opposite. Trees and other plants produce less palatable browse, in both quantity and quality. Some herbaceous species go into dormancy earlier. Reductions of these energy rich food sources result in less fat build-up among herbivores. Those wildlife species that remain resident throughout the winter may not have enough reserves to survive. Those that migrate will have a more difficult passage and will need good food supplies at their destinations, if they arrive.

Poorer habitat quality has ramifications beyond the summer. Trees and shrubs will produce fewer flower buds. That means that next year, there will, again, be a lower amount of fruits and nuts. Aspen will have fewer flower buds to feed wintering ruffed grouse. Increased mortality of perennial vegetation leaves cover gaps needed for over-wintering, breeding, and shelter from predators and foul weather. Vegetation on sandy and shallow soils is particularly vulnerable.

Reduced lake levels are more than just a recreational inconvenience. Exposed structure reduces habitat for certain fish species. Wider shorelines increase the risk of predation by animals that utilize these riparian zones. Of course, this is good if you're a hawk, owl, or coyote. It also may be good to re-establish and invigorate some wetland plant species... if the lake reductions aren't long term.

Changes in when and how lakes stratify and mix affect nutrient and oxygen levels. These levels are important to fish and other aquatic wildlife. Warm weather can prevent mixing, which means insufficient amounts of oxygen may reach the deeper parts of a lake.

Lower stream levels won't do any favors for most aquatic mammals, especially during the upcoming winter. Warmer summer flows discriminate against cool water fish species, such as trout. Low spring water levels can hamper fish runs and leave fish more vulnerable to predation.

Aquatic insect populations have taken hits this year. We've enjoyed a lack of biting bugs, but that's a vacancy at the bottom of the food chain that reverberates throughout the web. Insectivores have had to travel further and expend more energy. Winter may intensify this issue.

Drying micro-habitats reduce the number of over-wintering areas for reptiles and amphibians. Species concentrate in and around the remaining areas, which make populations more vulnerable to diseases and predation. Those forest vernal ponds may not have carried water longer enough to bring maturity to some species of frogs, toads, and salamanders.

Bark beetles and wood boring insects may flourish. Drought-stressed trees are less able to repel the invading larvae. Certain fungi that control populations, such as those of gypsy moth, fail during dry springs, which might lead to larger defoliating insect outbreaks in 2013. Risk of certain diseases will increase. Avian botulism can occur in shallow ponds and wetlands, which are favorite haunts of waterbirds. The warm water with decaying protein matter allows the bacterium Clostridium botulinum to blossom. Large bacterial populations produce toxins that can be fatal to birds.

Blastomycosis is fungal disease associated with lower water levels, warm weather, and decaying wood, especially around beaver ponds. Dogs are particularly vulnerable but humans can also contract the disease.

Some drought effects on wildlife are fairly easy to identify and track. Others are more difficult to identify, as drought creates underlying predispositions that make healthy wildlife populations more vulnerable. Some impacts are long-term. Drought is an important factor in wildlife ecology.

Changes in habitat quality and environmental effects within an ecosystem can be complex and sometimes counter-intuitive. Ecosystems will recover from short-term weather trends. However, if long-term change is underfoot, we may be looking at another set of ecosystem dynamics in an uncertain future. Time will tell.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Milliman's editorial helps us to understand the facts

To the editor:

I would like to thank Mr. Richard Milliman for giving us the actual text of the proposals we're going to be voting on in November.

I couldn't help noticing a number of contradictions to the TV ads we're being treated to. The ads say Proposal 2 would allow child molesters to work in schools. When I read the proposal, however, it only talks about the right to have unions, if the workers want them. Union members have kids too, they don't want sex predators in schools any more than you do. And I don't think there's a Child-Molesters Union out there.

The ad goes on to say, "The only thing we can do is pray for our children." Well, no. One thing we can do is read Mr. Milliman's editorial and understand the facts. Workers should have the right to choose if they want a union or not. The fat cats behind the ad, however, don't want unions at all, let alone letting workers have a free choice. If the union-bashers have their way, our grandchildren will all be working for less than living wages. Then we might want to pray for them.

Mr. Milliman's editorial also gives the text of Proposal 3. The TV ads say if it goes through it will "cost Michigan families thousands in energy bills." However, the text of the proposal specifically says no renewable energy rate increase can be over 1 percent. Frankly, if a 1 percent increase for your home would come to thousands of dollars, you need to close the windows when it's blowing a blizzard out there.

Northern Lakes CMH invites art entries for the Recovery: The Human Journey show

Anyone recovering from anything is invited to submit art through Oct. 19, for the 6th Annual "Art of Recovery: The Human Journey" show. Northern Lakes Community Mental Health (CMH) sponsors the event as a community celebration of the resiliency and healing power of people. There is no cost.

"This is the sixth year we are presenting this show at the Inside Out Gallery to help illustrate that we're all in this journey together," says Cynthia Petersen, Northern Lakes CMH community and provider relations coordinator, one of the event organizers. "Everyone recovers from something at some time during their lives. Whether you have experienced a mental illness, physical illness, grief or loss, substance use, violence, or divorce, we encourage you to submit your work. Sharing your creative product may give hope to another person."

Entry forms are available under "Special Initiatives" on the Northern Lakes CMH Web site at <http://www.northernlakescmh.org>. Artwork in good condition, matted or framed, and suitably wired for display, should be delivered during normal business hours to Northern Lakes CMH, 2nd floor, 105 Hall Street, Traverse City by Oct. 19. Up to three entries per person may be entered; the number displayed is limited by available space.

A community celebration and opening reception for the public is planned for Wednesday, Nov. 7, from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., at the Inside Out Gallery, 229 Garland, Traverse City Warehouse District. The show continues through November.

For additional information call Cynthia Petersen at Northern Lakes Community Mental Health at 231-935-3099 or email info@northernlakescmh.org.

Hartwick Pines State Park Critters in the Moonlight Halloween walk volunteers, dressed as larger-than-life woodland creatures, will guide children through the pumpkin lit Old Growth Trail at the park on Saturday, Oct. 13.

Meet forest 'critters' during Hartwick Pines State Park's Halloween walk

The Friends of Hartwick Pines State Park will host their annual Critters in the Moonlight Halloween walk on Saturday, Oct. 13, from 5 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. The walk will start off at the Hartwick Pine's picnic area.

The walk is geared toward families with young children and leads participants along the park's Old Growth Trail lit with over 100 hand-carved Jack-O-Lanterns. Walkers will be led along the trail by a "critter" guide and will encounter several costumed volunteers dressed as larger-than-life woodland creatures including a raccoon, bobcat and gray wolf who will talk about themselves and hopefully dispel some of the more common myths associated with them.

The short trail walk takes about 20 minutes. A longer tour around the trail takes an hour.

Following the walk local Boy Scouts will be selling hot dogs and hot chocolate at the shelter building and picture buttons will be available.

Hartwick Pines State Park is located 4216 Ranger Road in Grayling (Crawford County). For details on this or other events, call (989) 348-2537 or email Pam Engel engelp@michigan.gov, Craig Kasmer kasmer@michigan.gov or Rob Burg burg@michigan.gov.

The event is free, however a Recreation Passport is required for vehicles entering the park. The Recreation Passport is an easy, affordable way for residents to enjoy and support outdoor recreation opportunities in Michigan. By checking "YES" for the $10 Recreation Passport ($5 for motorcycles) when renewing a license plate through the Secretary of State (by mail, kiosk, online at www.express-sos.com or at branch offices), Michigan motorists get access to state parks, recreation areas, state forest campgrounds, non-motorized state trailhead parking and state boat launches. In addition, Recreation Passport holders can experience real savings at businesses and retailers that participate in the Passport Perks discount program. The Recreation Passport is valid until the next license plate renewal date. Nonresidents can purchase the Recreation Passport ($29 annual; $8 daily) at any state park or recreation area or through the Michigan e-Store at www.michigan.gov/estore. Access to early detection of breast cancer can save lives (NAPS)—With all the focus on women and health these days, what is it that prevents women from really taking care of their own health? With all the evidence that suggests early detection of breast cancer can be instrumental in saving lives, why would women forgo getting a routine mammogram? What's more, with information available on the benefits of early detection that show there may be less need for invasive treatment and better outcomes, why do women seem to ignore the facts?

There are several reasons. Four of the top barriers to early detection of breast cancer are lack of insurance or financial resources to pay for mammograms and obtain a clinical breast examination; believing that if you are over 65 you do not need a mammogram; thinking that you are not at risk because breast cancer does not "run in your family"; believing that the results of a mammogram will be breast cancer and avoiding the test.

The facts are:
• medically underserved women can find places offering no cost mammograms by contacting the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at 1-888-842-6355 for places offering free mammography screening. Medicare and Medicaid both reimburse for mammography; and on National Mammography Day, many facilities around the country offer low or no cost mammography screening.

• women over 65 should receive routine mammography screening and clinical breast exams because risk increases with age, and therefore, early detection is more important than ever if you are an older woman. In fact, the average age at diagnosis is 63 years of age. Women, especially in this age group, should talk to their physicians and be sure to schedule a mammogram and clinical breast exam.

• only five to 10 percent of all breast cancers can be attributed to inherited genetic mutations. Most women diagnosed with breast cancer do not have a family history of this disease. Therefore, beginning when a woman is 40 years old, routine mammography and a clinical breast exam is strongly recommended by most health care organizations. Women 20 and older should practice monthly breast self-examination and report any unusual changes in their breasts to their healthcare provider.

• while fear of finding breast cancer is a motivating factor for many in not obtaining a mammogram, in fact more than half the time breast cancer found via mammography is found at early, more treatable stages. Early detection of this disease leads to earlier treatment when the tumor is still small and requires less invasive procedures.

Education about options for breast health is important. Women should be informed so that they can make educated choices about breast health. Resources such as the National Breast Cancer Awareness Month Campaign provide information on its Web site, www.nbcam.org. The site searches the sites of the Board of Sponsors, a group of 19 national public service organizations, professional associations and government agencies including the American Cancer Society, the National Cancer Institute and the AstraZeneca Healthcare Foundation. The most up-to-date and accurate information on breast cancer, as well as links to patient advocacy, medical, professional and government organizations are available on the Web site.

To provide more information about latest recommendations for breast cancer screening and detection, as well as risk factors for breast cancer and healthy lifestyle changes that may reduce the risk of developing breast cancer, Gwen Summers will host a FREE seminar at the Grayling Commission on Aging, at 6 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 22. Gwen will also provide information on testing that is available at Mercy Hospital Grayling for the screening and diagnosis for breast cancer.

Free seminar to learn about breast cancer risk factors, screening and detection

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness month. The goal of Breast Cancer Awareness month is to raise awareness of breast cancer, its detection, treatment and need for a cure.

The American Cancer Society recommends a clinical breast exam be done every 3 years from ages 20 to 40 and yearly exams after age 40. It is recommended that woman have their first mammogram at age 40, and once each year after.

Primary care providers at Mercy Physician Network offices provide clinical breast exams to patients and Mercy Hospital Grayling offers digital mammography.

Christie Keith, a member on the Michigan Pet Fund Alliance's Board of Directors, said this is the first year the organization presented the no-kill community awards.

Shelters and rescue organizations are required to submit reports on the animals they intake, including wildlife, to the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development.

Awards were given to communities that have saved more than 90 percent of their homeless pets with humane, progressive policies.

"They set the benchmark for best shelters in Michigan," Keith said. "We wanted to acknowledge those shelters in the state that have performed at that top level."

Although the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter serves Crawford County, the award was given to include broader efforts to care for animals in the community such as the Leaning Oaks Cat Haven, a cat shelter in Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County Animal Control Officer Gail Foguth, individuals who rescue homeless animals and people who make donations to the shelter.

"It's really kind an award for the people," said Cheryl Postma, the director for the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter.

The AuSable Valley Animal Shelter implemented a no-kill policy in 2005, but started efforts to end the euthanization of adoptable pets two years before that.

Crawford County saved 94 percent of the homeless pets it took in at the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter through the efforts of the community in 2011. Only 10 pets taken in at the shelter had to be euthanized last year.

"Crawford County has been a no-kill county for several years and the shelter has been working on the front lines to make that happen," said Sharon Priebe, secretary/treasurer for the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter Board of Directors. "We're very proud that Crawford County has been recognized as a no-kill community and we will work vigilantly with our partners to maintain that status."

Deborah Shutt, chairwoman of the Michigan Pet Fund Alliance, said it takes the efforts and financial support from many to find homes for all healthy cats and dogs.

"What we have learned is that no shelter can achieve a no-kill status on their own," Shutt said. "It all depends on the community and community support."

Last week, Kristen Goddard, of Gaylord, found a new "forever friend" at the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter when she decided to give Cubby, a doxin-mix, a new home.

Goddard, who works in the surgical department at Mercy Hospital Grayling, came across Cubby and the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter through searching on Petfinder.com.

Goddard had to put down the two dogs she owned earlier this year due to illnesses.

"I am thrilled to find a smaller dog and younger dog because they usually go first," she said.

Goddard said she was pleased to help the AuSable Valley Animal Shelter with its no-kill commitment to the community after learning about the award.

"I think it's wonderful," Goddard said.

Drought's impact on fall foliage tourism still unknown

by Matthew Hall
Capital News Service

LANSING — Will a drought-shortened color season blunt the impact of Great Lakes fall tourism?

Stress induced by the dry summer may have leaves starting to fall a week or so earlier than normal, said Bert Cregg, a professor at Michigan State University's Department of Forestry.

The truncated season has some tourism officials concerned.

The fall colors attract a lot of visitors and money to the state, said George Zimmermann, vice president for Travel Michigan, a public-private partnership that encourages tourism. It is featured in the state's promotional advertisements.

"Certainly, a shorter season would not be something we would prefer," he said.

But Zimmermann said he expects hotels and restaurants that cater to fall tourists to take it in stride.

"It might have some modest impact, but we would still expect robust fall travel," Zimmermann said, noting that seasonal activities like outdoor recreation and going to wineries and farmer's markets don't necessarily depend on the leaf color.

In general, the dry months mean stress-induced, earlier leaf fall, but the arrival of color also depends on location and local weather, Cregg said.

Leaves are the main way trees lose water, so dropping them earlier defends them from drought, Cregg said. It is a way of shutting down until conditions are more favorable.

Vibrancy of the leaf color is also affected by the drought.

"Most research indicates that the degree of 'redness' in maples is mostly related to nutrient concentrations in the leaves," said Cregg. "Drought can promote earlier color or, if the drought is severe, may shorten the display due to early leaf fall."

And fall color isn't the same everywhere, Zimmermann noted.

"Michigan is big enough that it doesn't all arrive at the same time, everywhere," Zimmermann said. "It's always moving from north to south."

The Bible Speaks

Globalism's god

The utopian dream of global unity may soon be fulfilled. The ancient Babylonian Tower of Babel was only the first of many human attempts to establish utopia on earth without God. Marxism and Idolatry will soon join hands to lead the world to the tyrannical rule of the antichrist and false prophet. As you know, Karl Marx wrote the Communist Manifesto. Just as God used believing Jews to give us the Bible, Civil Law, and Jesus Christ the Messiah, so also Satan used an unbelieving Jew to help give tyrants the seeds for our destruction. The seed of Marxism is present in the systems of Communism, Socialism, and Secular Humanism. These systems differ only in tactics and degree, but not in nature or ultimate goals. All three Humanist Manifestos previously described in detail in this column over the years reveal their roots from the original Communist Manifesto of Karl Marx.

One World Religion is almost here. On the altar of love, unity, peace, and brotherhood, the ecumenists are sacrificing the truth of God's Person, Work, and Word. Our leaders tell us the present Middle East conflict has nothing to do with religion. In reality, the Bible of the Jews and Christians is being sacrificed on the altar of global peace and unity. The United Nations is striving to form a consensus of religious thought for a global standard of morality. All claims to the absolute authority of the Judeo-Christian God are to be silenced. A leader will arise to fulfill the prophecy of the false prophet described in the Bible. In place of the 10 commandments, which are God's moral foundation for civil government and Western Civilization, the world will be forced to accept the one world religious standard of a False Prophet.

The National and World Council of Churches have already given us a vivid example of what is ahead. A generation ago they spent millions in the name of Liberation Theology to assist Marxist rebels in their fight to bring in global Communism. In the name of a false Jesus, Marxism had the goal of bringing about the redistribution of world wealth. As Bishop Montgomery Brown, a liberal clergyman once said, "There will exist a complete World Fellowship of Faiths only when the Gods are banished from the skies and capitalists from earth." Mikhail Gorbachev in 1993 when meeting with Pope John Paul II spoke of a "convergence of religious ideals" which would result from a choice of the American people to abandon their Christian principles to avoid a world revolution. Marxism in Russia tried and failed to stamp out Christianity using force. Satan is still trying to use Marxism in hand with ecumenical idolatry to merge all peoples and nations into one global system ushering in global tyranny. America is their great enemy.

Christians in America need to read, study and believe the Bible to defend God's truth. Fewer and fewer people attend church. Some only go to church to be entertained and feel better. During 40 years of ministry in Grayling my prayers and hopes for a spiritual awakening in our community and nation have not been realized, but my faith in God remains unshaken. Only a sovereign God can awaken our generation and restore our faith in Him, His word, His unalienable rights for us, and freedom from all tyranny. Pastor "B"

Over $5,000 in donations were given to the Heritage Baptist Church in memory of Larry Baynham Jr., a lifetime resident of Crawford County and a friend to many. Baynham, known to friends as "LB," died on May 9, 2012 after a battle with cancer. Donated monies were dedicated to the church's roof fund. On Sept. 15, the project was completed by church members, family and friends from all over the community. "The day was absolutely beautiful as memories, fellowship and a great potluck feast were enjoyed by all," said Sandy Baynham, Baynham's wife. Above, volunteers work on the roof as the fall colors are blooming on the trees in the background.

Camp Grayling announces temporary entrance closure

The entrance to Camp Grayling will be under construction from Oct. 1 until May of 2013. This is a temporary shut down for reconstruction of the front gate and the southern M-93 and Margrethe Boulevard connection will be closed.

During this time, the Camp Grayling entrance will be accessed from the south access gate off of Military Road.

Access at the northern end of M-93 will be maintained throughout construction and all proposed work will take place on Camp Grayling property and in coordination with MDOT and the Crawford County Road Commission.

Upon completion of this project, the community will see improvements in traffic flow and the appearance of the new entrance.

Youth wrestling club gets ready for new season

In March, Grayling Youth Wrestling Club (GYWC) members finished their 2012 season with a trip to the MHSAA Division III state wrestling finals to watch three of their former members - GHS wrestlers Brandon Handrich, Ryan Randall, and Jeff Myers, all of whom started their wrestling careers with the GYWC - compete in the event.

The GYWC has "taken all of their eighth grade wrestlers to the state finals for a number of years, not only to support the high school wrestling team, our 'teammates,' but it gives the incoming freshmen an opportunity to see the biggest wrestling event of their high school years," a GYWC official said. "Grayling Youth Wrestling encourages our wrestlers to set a high standard for themselves and strive to achieve making it to the state finals when in high school."

In June, the GYWC hosted its Central Michigan University youth wrestling camp. In July, the club raised money with a food tent during the AuSable River Festival.

The GYWC has supported Grayling High School's wrestling program with more than $20,000 over the course of several years.

"This is a sound hometown program dedicated to giving our student athletes every opportunity to compete on the same level with all wrestling schools throughout Michigan," a GYWC official said.

The GYWC is affiliated with the North Eastern Michigan Wrestling Association (NEMWA) and it competes in NEMWA-sanctioned events.

"We support our wrestlers getting competition outside of NEMWA during the off-season but we feel that kids still need time to be 'kids,'" according to GYWC.

Practices for the upcoming season - held at Grayling Middle School - will begin on Dec. 3. The GYWC will compete in six regular season tournaments, a regional tournament, and the NEMWA state finals.

The fee to register is $35. Membership forms will be available at the schools in Grayling. The first tournament is slated for Jan. 5.

The GYWC will be led by Joe Dannenberg (president) and Joe Ferrigan (vice president), former varsity wrestling coach at GHS, this year. The coaching staff will also include Joe Ferrigan II and Brad Duncan. According to the GYWC, its coaches are AAU certified and subject to "criminal history background check."

If you have any questions about the GYWC, contact Dannenberg at (989) 745-3071 or Ferrigan at (989) 710-0477.

Crawford County man cherishes his many clocks

by Dan Sanderson

Staff Writer

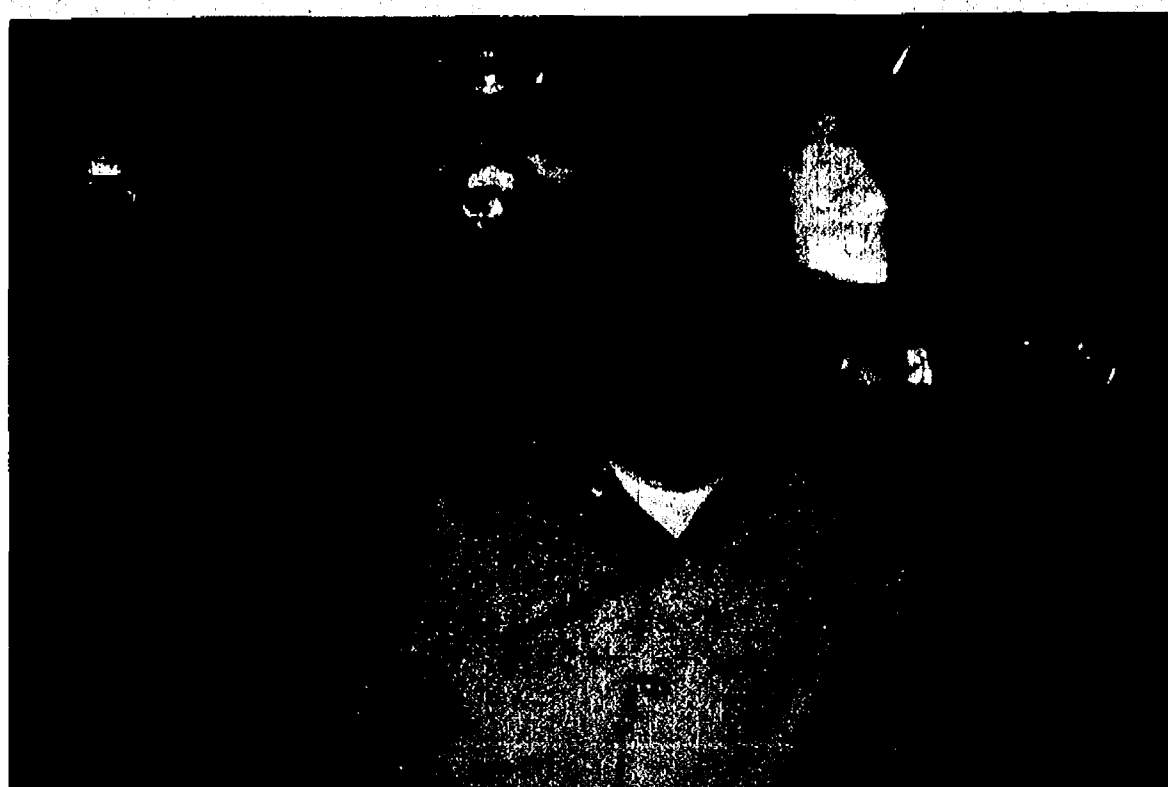

Carl "Mac" "Tic Toc" McPherson has been wound up about clocks for decades.

McPherson, who has repaired antique clocks and every other type of clock for over 50 years, has 300 clocks in his home, which is aptly called "The House of Clocks." The collection sprawls out into his workshop and garage, where McPherson has another 200 to 300 clocks.

McPherson first started tinkering with clocks when he repaired one for his sister.

McPherson moved to Grayling in 1968 after serving as the assistant superintendent for the City of Troy.

"I moved up here," he said. "I didn't like the politics."

Carl "Mac" "Tic Toc" McPherson has 300 clocks in his home, which is aptly called "The House of Clocks."

McPherson worked as a welder and machinist for Bear Archery. He retired 16 years ago after working as a custodian and maintenance man at the Grayling Elementary School.

Over the years, McPherson has continued to repair and collect his clocks. The older, the better is the motto McPherson has for his collection of clocks. One, from Switzerland, has its original wooden gears. He also has an antique grandfather clock from Great Britain.

Every hour and half hour, a chorus of clocks chimes. McPherson's wife of 23 years, Elaine, helps him wind the clocks daily and weekly.

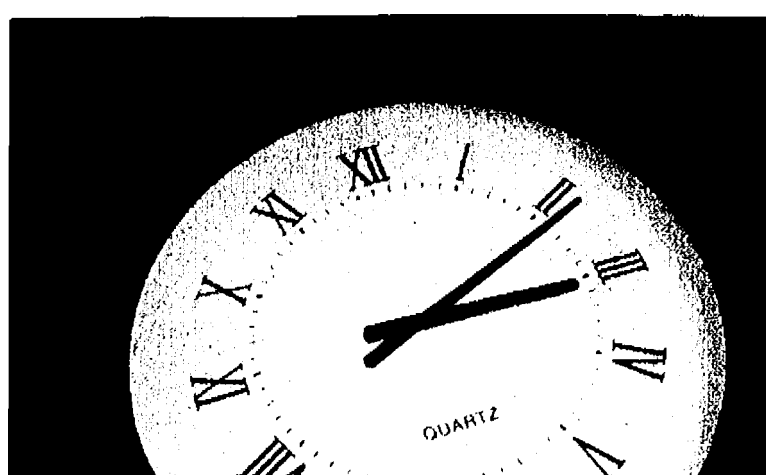

"We don't have one electric clock in the house, they all either run on batteries or are wind up," Elaine said.

McPherson said most of the clocks in his collection have come from garage sales. Friends and former students he has known have also donated clocks and clock parts for his collection. One of his latest finds was a clock coffee table.

"I couldn't believe it when I saw it," he said.

McPherson, who had a battle with throat cancer, uses a scooter to get around after he went through a quadruple heart bypass and was diagnosed with lung cancer.

McPherson wasn't given long to live, but he has recovered from cancer. At the time of his illnesses, he parted with some of his clocks and clock parts, which were hauled away by two trucks. That area now serves as home for Elaine's collection of dolls and knitted crafts.

McPherson's collection of clocks continued to grow after overcoming his health issues. He is not in the business of selling clocks.

"I've had a chance to sell a lot of them but I just don't want to get rid of them," he said.

McPherson gets referrals by word of mouth from people he has repaired clocks for in the past. He is, however, starting to cut down on his time at the workbench.

"I used to sit and take these things apart until they were nothing," he said.

McPherson, who hosts a large annual camping gathering, said people are amazed when they see all the clocks.

"A lot of people say I should charge people to come through here," he said.

McPherson said he has no interest in turning the House of Clocks into a local attraction or profiting from the vintage and unique clocks in his collection because time is all he has.

"At my age, I need all the time I can get," he said.

Grayling High School's varsity girls volleyball team posted a 3-0 series win vs. the visiting Harbor Springs Rams on Thursday night.

The Vikings led early in game one of the series, jumping ahead 9-4, then extending their advantage to 10, 17-7. Grayling led by as many as 12, 22-10, before finally winning the match by nine, 25-16.

In game two, the Vikings led 7-1 early. Harbor Springs battled back, but Grayling was able to finish the match with a two-point win, 25-23.

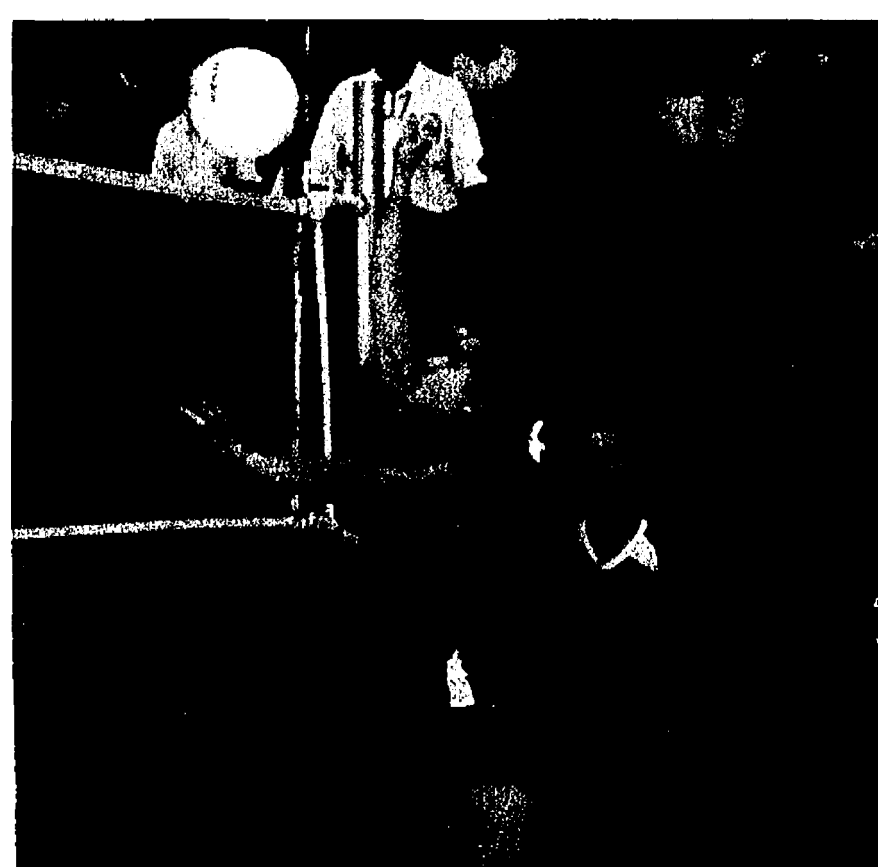

The Vikings built an early advantage in game three as well, starting on a 7-2 run. Grayling led 12-5 at one point before taking a 20-12 advantage late in the match. The Vikings won game three 25-21 to clinch the best of five series.

For Grayling, Rachel Money had six kills and Marilyn Jankowski had five kills. Caitlin Prosser had two aces and Jankowski had two aces.

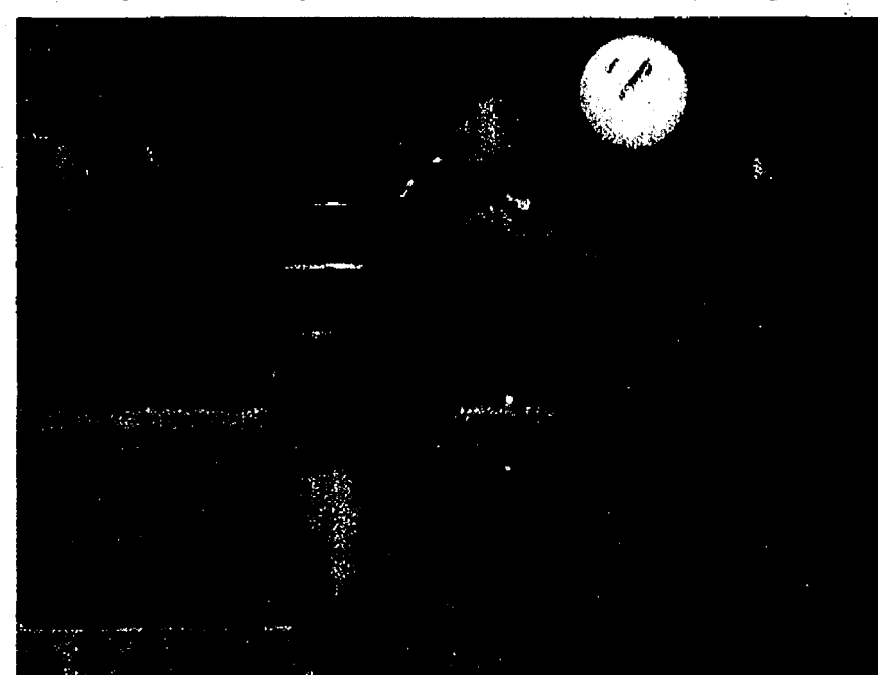

The team – a young group that has six sophomores, three juniors, and two seniors – has had an uneven season so far. The Vikings are halfway through their 2012 campaign, hoping to finish with a strong second half.

"The girls have decided that this is going to be the turning point of the season. They're going to win games from this point forward," Coach Lindsay Smith said. "They came together today and I'm proud of them."

The Vikings will play at Traverse City St. Francis on Thursday, Oct. 11.

Soccer team defeats Roscommon for sixth straight win

by Caleb Casey
 Senior Staff Writer

The GHS varsity boys soccer team defeated the visiting Roscommon Bucks 5-1 in a nonconference match on Monday night, extending the squad's winning streak to six games.

Neither team scored in the contest's first 31:15.

With 8:45 remaining in the first half, Carson Burmeister scored a goal for the Vikings, giving Grayling a 1-0 advantage. Jeff LaVigne, at the 2:23 mark, scored Grayling's second goal of the contest.

At halftime, Grayling led 2-0.

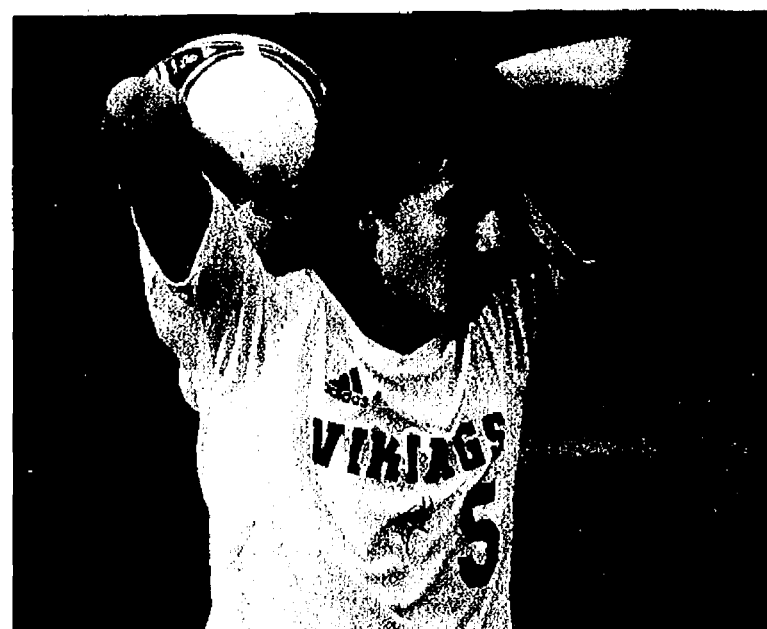

At the second half's 31:29 mark, Tyler Powers scored Grayling's third goal of the game. Approximately 1.5

minutes later, Blake Gregory scored for GHS on a pass from Powers. The Vikings led 4-0.

With 14:40 remaining in regulation, Jacob Robbins scored a goal on a header on a corner kick from LaVigne.

Roscommon scored its only goal of the contest on a penalty kick at the 13:48 mark. Neither team scored in the final 13 minutes of regulation. Grayling won 5-1.

"We controlled both halves," Coach Nate Alyas said. "We started pretty good, passing, spreading the field. They showed up big. They gained the momentum from the beginning. The bench showed up pretty good. Roscommon is a really good team."

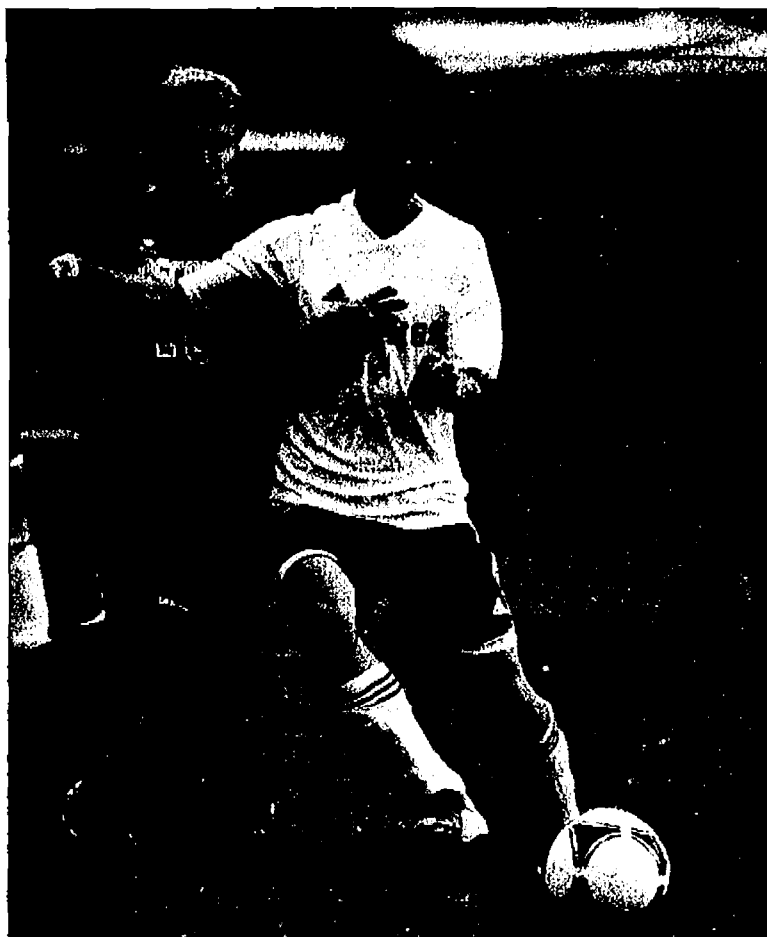

Elijah Robbins takes a throw-in for the Vikings on Monday night.

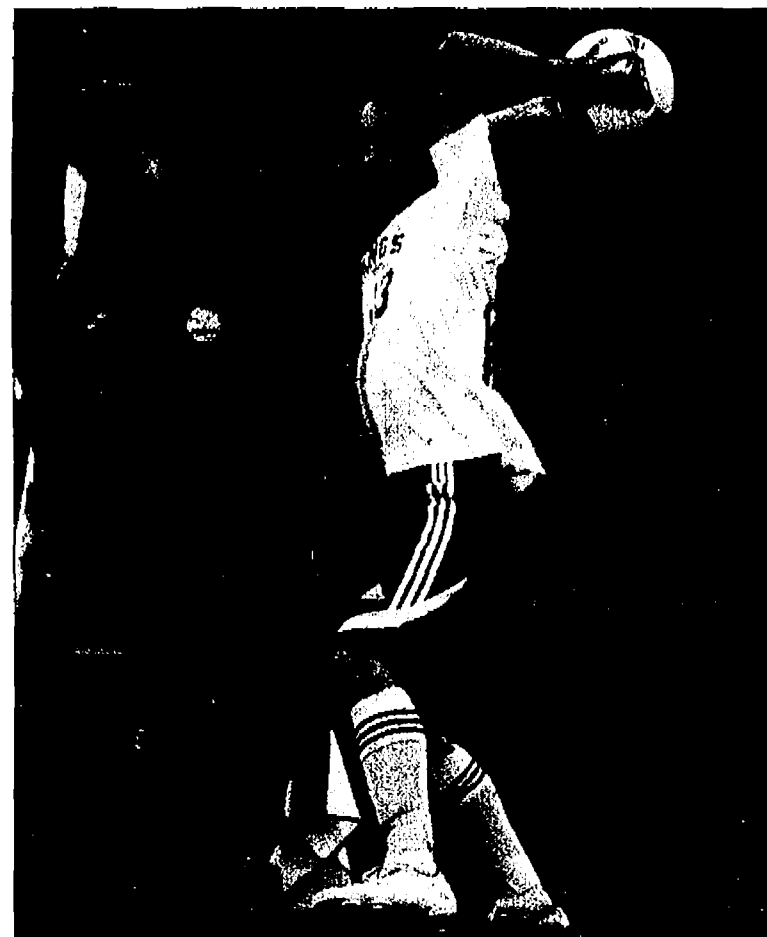

The Vikings will play in their district tournament during the week of Oct. 14-20. Coach Alyas said the team has a good chance of winning some playoff games "if we play the way played today."

Monday's win vs. Roscommon improved Grayling's overall record to 11-3-1.

JV football team falls to Blazers 41-20 on Thursday

The GHS junior varsity football squad lost 41-20 vs. the visiting Kalkaska Blazers on Thursday night.

"This was a chess match that started sometime during the second quarter. The score was closer than it looks. In the end, Kalkaska made big plays and we didn't," Coach Chris Kucharek said.

"I was happy that our kids were able to make in-game adjustments. We haven't been able to do that all year, but in the end it wasn't enough," Assistant Coach Ron Wyman said.

Quarterback Darin

Nicholas threw for 184 yards and one TD. Nick Petrie rushed for 74 yards, adding 39 receiving yards on four receptions. Dylan Wyman caught seven passes for 71 yards and one TD. Isaac Rochette had four catches for 50 yards. On defense, Zack Cheney had 10 tackles and Rochette had 10 tackles. Kejuan Conley had eight tackles and one sack. Tom Bolick had five tackles. Austin Sheppard had two sacks.

The Vikings (4-3 overall, 2-2 conference) will play at East Jordan at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 11.

In battle of top two league teams, Elks edge Vikings 2-0

Grayling, 6-2 in LMC, will end regular season on Thursday

by Caleb Casey
Senior Staff Writer

On Wednesday night, Grayling and Elk Rapids -- the top two teams for boys soccer in the Lake Michigan Conference this year -- battled each other for the second time this season, and the Elks won the contest 2-0 with two second half goals. Grayling High School hosted the contest.

Neither team was able to score in the first half of play.

"We started really strong," Coach Nate Alyas said of his team's first half performance. "We played man-to-man. We had some pressure on them. They had a couple good shots on us; we strike back and had some good shots. We tried different formation today. Team played back and forth.

We pretty much controlled the first half except they had a couple shots."

Elk Rapids scored its first goal of the contest approximately 10.5 minutes into the second half. The Elks scored again at the 13:08 mark. Grayling missed a penalty kick (PK) at the 11:09 mark. The Vikings were unable to score in the second half, overall, and Elk Rapids won 2-0.

"The second half, we started it really good. One mistake from the midfield and they strike; they put one in. The second goal was a hard shot from the corner that was a defender mistake. We tried to get the goal and tie, missed the PK," Coach Alyas said.

In the first meeting of the two teams -- Elk Rapids hosted the game and it was played on Sept. 10 -- the Elks won 5-0. Grayling is now 6-2 in league play, with their only two losses coming against the Elks.

"They have a lot of good players. They're a tough team," Coach Alyas said. "We showed up big. We played a good game, good man-to-man."

Coach Alyas said Wednesday's solid performance against Elk Rapids was important for the team, since the two squads may meet for a third time soon -- this time in the playoffs.

On Tuesday, Oct. 16, Elk Rapids will play at Cheboygan in a round one District 48-3 postseason contest. The Vikings will start their playoff run with a round one district match vs.

Boyer City, a contest slated for Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 5 p.m. at Grayling High School. Grayling will play a road game in the district semifinals at Elk Rapids or Cheboygan, depending on which team wins that match. The winner of the semifinal match will host the district title game, facing Benzie Central, Kalkaska, or Traverse City Christian.

Grayling has played Boyne City once already this season -- the Vikings defeated the Ramblers 1-0 on Sept. 17 -- and the two teams will meet one more time before the playoffs. The Vikings (11-4-1 overall, 6-2 conference), in their regular season finale, will play at Boyne City on Thursday, Oct. 11.

Kalkaska drove 43 yards on eight plays, scoring a TD on a seven-yard run on 1st and goal. The two-point conversion attempt failed. Grayling led 27-6 with 11:30 left in the fourth quarter.

Grayling went for it on 4th and 1 at its 19-yard line and came up short. On 3rd and 15, the Vikings got the ball back with an interception by Parkinson.

The Vikings drove 76 yards on 11 plays, using six minutes of clock time and scoring a TD on 23-yard run by Jensen. Grayling led 33-6 with 2:35 remaining in regulation.

Kalkaska did not score on its final drive. The Vikings won 33-6.

According to the team: Swander had 235 passing yards and two TDs; Jensen rushed for 124 yards and one TD; Tobin had 78 rushing yards and one TD, plus three catches for 83 yards and a TD; Harris ran for 30 yards and one TD; McClanahan caught six passes for 53 yards and one TD; Parkinson had five receptions for 47 yards. On defense, Handrich had 11 tackles, one sack, and a fumble recovery. Wes Dean had 13 tackles. Michael Branch had 12 tackles.

"Our guys came ready to play tonight," Coach Tim Sanchez said. "Coach (Kevin) O'Connell's defensive game plan was great and the players executed it with toughness and discipline. Kalkaska had two incredible backs that could score on any play, so I was very pleased with our defensive intensity. Once again our offense was able to make some big plays and capitalize on some forced turnovers."

"Now it's time to find that right balance between enjoying all of the homecoming week festivities and still staying focused to be at our best this Friday night," Coach Sanchez said.

The Vikings (7-0 overall, 4-0 league) will host East Jordan (0-7 overall, 0-4 league) at 7 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 12, in a contest that will include homecoming festivities.
